    class JFrame
    class CASUALJFrameLog["GUI.development.CASUALJFrameLog"]
    JFrame <|-- CASUALJFrameLog

The diagram illustrates a class hierarchy. At the top, there are two boxes, each labeled 'JFrame'. Below them is a single box labeled 'GUI.development.CASUALJFrameLog'. A horizontal line connects the two 'JFrame' boxes, and a vertical line descends from its center to the 'GUI.development.CASUALJFrameLog' box. From this point, two arrows branch out horizontally to point at the bottom of each 'JFrame' box, indicating that 'GUI.development.CASUALJFrameLog' inherits from 'JFrame'.
